SCOPE OF WORK

INTRODUCTION TO THE NRF

The National Research Foundation Act, Act 23 of 1998, establishes the National Research Foundation (“NRF”) as the juristic person that makes this bid invitation and will contract with the awarded bidder. The Public Finance Management Act classifies the organisation as a Schedule 3A Public Entity.

The NRF is the government’s national agency responsible for promoting and supporting research and human capital development through funding, the provision of National Research Facilities and science outreach platforms and programs to the broader community in all fields of science and technology, including natural science, engineering, social science and humanities.

CONTEXT OF THIS PROCUREMENT

The National Research Foundation (NRF) aims to promote, support, identify and communicate the impact of research within the research enterprise (Knowledge Impact) and in society (Societal Impact). Knowledge impact refers to the scientific and advances in understanding, interpretation, methods, theory, application and related advances that bring about positive change within and/or across disciplines and fields. Societal impact refers to the value that research adds to society across various spheres, whether social, economic or environmental. Societal impact reflects the direct or indirect relationship between research or the research process and improvement in the quality of people’s lives, inclusive of innovation, technological advancements, improved sustainability and policy developments.

The NRF’s decision to emphasise the impact of research is aligned with the NRF’s mandate and the 2019 White Paper on Science, Technology and Innovation, both of which emphasise the contribution that research can make to national development. Impact is not limited by geographic location, but the NRF’s emphasis will be on impact within the South African or African context. The NRF aims to advance the positive contribution of research, while recognising that types of impact and value can change over time.

In line with the above, the NRF has adopted the following definition of the impact that it will pursue through its interventions: “A beneficial change in society or knowledge advancement, brought about as a direct or indirect result of the NRF’s research support interventions, whether planned or unintended, immediate or longer-term”.

Therefore, the NRF intends to communicate it’s work to the public, funders, policy makers and many other stakeholders through a booklet that showcases its 25 years of impact and innovation in line with the NRF Vision 2030 ‘Research for a better society’, that is ‘Advancing knowledge; Transforming lives; and Inspiring a nation’.

5. If the contracted bidder fails to meet any performance level:
 1. The contracted bidder shall investigate and report on the root causes of the performance level failure;
 2. Promptly correct the failure and begin meeting the set performance levels;
